And there's a great line-up on Cable television this month, with a host of movie premieres including Green Card, Rocky V, Postcards from the Edge, The Russia House, Pacific Heights, and Child's Play 2, to name but a few.

Don't forget that it's also the first full month of live Premier League Football coverage brought to you exclusively by Sky Sports. Turn to pages 2 and 3 for details of this month's sporting highlights, plus more news on Sky Sports becoming a pay service.

In our competition this month you could find yourself in the director's chair — all you have to do is match the star to the movie they appear in! Turn to page 4 for all the details.

You'll find all this plus a special highlight on Discovery this month, which brings to you some breath-taking film of the most deadly predator of the seas — the shark. See page 4 for what's in store in Shark Week on Discovery.

ALL THE TOP SPORTS

A new season, a new league, new coverage

Sky Sports is a whole new ballgame with the rights to show exclusive live coverage of the new Premier League for the next five seasons! From September, Sky Sports will become a pay channel service but the good news is that, as an existing Videotron customer, you will only have to pay for Sky Sports from October (new customers and dish customers will pay from September) at a cost of just £2.99 per month.

The Premier League coverage will feature two live games every week, Sunday and Monday, totalling more than 60 live games per season. By the end of this month Sky Sports will have shown 13 live games from the Premier League — that's as many live League games in the first six weeks of the season as BBC and ITV screened in the whole of last year!

Sky Sports will also be featuring great FA Cup coverage and all the England International games.

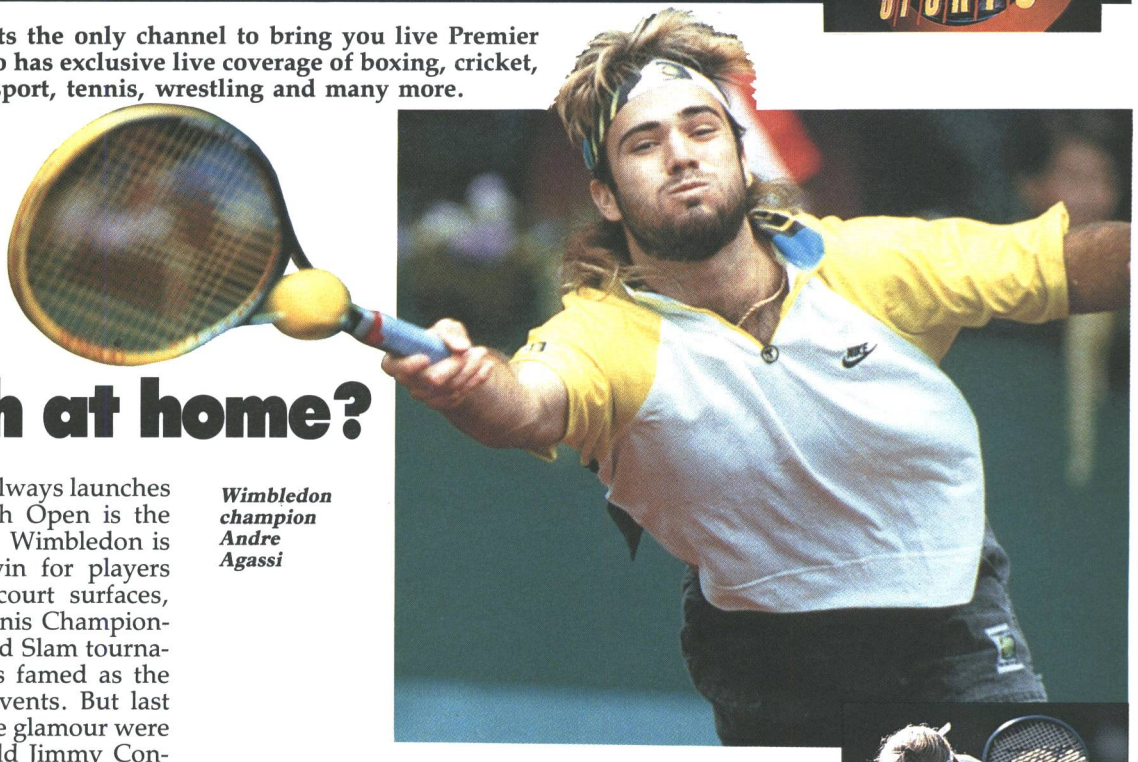
Not only is Sky Sports the only channel to bring you live Premier League football, it also has exclusive live coverage of boxing, cricket, rugby league, motor sport, tennis, wrestling and many more.

Will Andre triumph at home?



Wimbledon champion Andre Agassi

The Australian Open always launches the season, the French Open is the most glamorous affair, Wimbledon is the hardest one to win for players brought up on hard-court surfaces, and the US Open Tennis Championships — the final Grand Slam tournament of the year — is famed as the richest of the Open events. But last year the money and the glamour were forgotten as 39 year-old Jimmy Connors confounded his age and his critics at Flushing Meadow.

After beating Aaron Krickstein in a marathon 281-minute fourth-round match, Connors was put on a saline drip and intravenous glucose, but Connors — recently ranked 987 in the world — recovered in time to defeat Paul Haarhuis and progress to a semi-final with Jim Courier. But there the fairy-tale ended; after three late nights under floodlights, any hopes of a fifth US Open title were dashed and Stefan Edberg went on to take the title.

In last year's Women's Singles, Monica Seles won her third Grand Slam title of the season, defeating Martina Navratilova. In 1992, however, even with Steffi Graf fresh from Wimbledon victory, Seles should be favourite for the US Open title.

You can catch all the action from the US Open Tennis Championships exclusively live on Sky Sports from 31 August to 11 September with full coverage continuing through to the finals on 13 September.

Can Wimbledon champion Steffi Graf beat Monica Seles again?

Rugby in a league of its own!

Sky Sports has recently signed a four year contract for screening rights for the Rugby League and the Stones Bitter Championships, providing 26 Championship matches on Fridays with the chance to catch the full recorded match on Sundays.

The first fixture of the month will feature the sensation of Great Britain's Australasian touring team: Hull Kingston Rover's Graeme Hallas. Now, as Rovers face Widnes, Hallas comes face-to-face with the man he replaced, former Welsh rugby union captain Jonathon Davies. Hull Kingston Rovers vs Widnes screens live on Friday 4 September at 7pm.

Sky Sports will be screening five full games in September, three of them live on Friday nights, which includes Hull vs Warrington on Friday 18 September at 7pm. Boots 'n' All also returns at 10pm, Monday nights with Eddie and Stevo presenting their magazine mix of gossip, features and highlights.

The Shark — subject of a week-long series of programmes on Discovery.

SHARK ATTACK!

The most deadly predator of the seas is on the loose, presenting a spine-chilling challenge for top film directors, divers and shark specialists around the world. Unrivalled in its killing power, the shark remains largely a mystery to science. Roaming the world's oceans unchanged for nearly 200 million years, this formidable and voracious creature is superbly adapted to its special place as a scavenger of the dead, dying and weak.

Posing a threat to humans, its largest realm of terror lies off the coast of San Francisco, but what of the threat to sharks? The real kill ratio, says Dr Samuel H Gruber, a leading world authority on sharks, is about 4 million to 1 in favour of humans: we use shark meat, skin, carcasses, teeth, eyes, fins (an aphrodisiac), liver — and it costs only $2 less a gramme than gold!

Hunter or hunted, the shark is the focus on Discovery from Tuesday 1st to Sunday 6th September and includes programmes in the panel below.

Death in the Afternoon: Tuesday 1st at 10pm, Saturday 5th at 7.30pm
The Basking Shark: Tuesday 1st at 5pm, Sunday 6th at 7pm

Rooting out evil

AFTER ROOTS became such a sensation among the viewing public, winning nine Emmys and more than 135 other awards, its Pulitzer Prize-winning author Alex Haley returned to his typewriter and created the stunning sequel Roots: The Next Generation, which picks up in 1882 where the original series left off.

One-and-a-half-million dollars was spent on the set of the Tennessee town that serves as the focal point of the story, and producers David L Wolper and Stan Margulies wooed a clutch of top Hollywood names for guest stars.

▲ Marlon Brando as George Lincoln Rockwell

Henry Fonda stars in the first three episodes as Colonel Warner, the political and cultural leader of the small Tennessee town whose personal convictions all but destroy his family. Olivia De Havilland stars as his wife.

Marlon Brando puts in a cameo appearance as George Lincoln Rockwell, leader of the American Nazi Party, and the talent roster continues with Richard The Waltons Thomas and Irene Cara and Debbie Allen of Fame fame. ■

Earthlings get the V-sign

THE STUNNING SCI-FI series V returns to Sky One this month.

An alien race arrives on Earth and, appearing to be friendly and helpful, offers to share its advanced industrial and scientific knowledge with the Earthlings in exchange for a chemical that can be manufactured from the refuse of the Earth's cities.

But when prominent scientists start to disappear, freelance cameraman Mike Donovan investigates and discovers that the aliens are planning to take over the world. Once the secret is out the humans band together in underground groups and prepare for a long and bitter war.

The series stars Faye Grant as resistance head Julie Parrish and Marc Singer as Mike Donovan who is eventually to become Julie's lover. ■

VISIONS

September's Star Line-up on Cable!

East side story

ADAPTED FROM MM Kaye's epic novel, The Far Pavilions was one of a series of lavish productions concerned with Britain's colonisation of India to emerge during the 1980s in the wake of Richard Attenborough's Gandhi. But Pavilions abandons the heavy and revealing examination of Empire found in The Jewel in the Crown, opting instead for pure romantic adventure as it follows the tempestuous love affair between an Indian princess and one of Her Majesty's cavalry officers in 19th-century India.

Former Mrs Steven Spielberg Amy Irving, who also starred in the romantic comedy Crossing Delancey, plays an Indian princess who has been promised in marriage to a despotic ruler known as the Rana of Bithor (South Pacific's Rossano Brazzi to you).

But things get complicated when she falls desperately in love with the dashing Ashton Pelham-Martyn, played by Chariots of Fire star Ben Cross.

Also appearing are Omar Sharif as Cross's Indian mentor, and Sir John Gielgud as British Ambassador Major Sir Louis Cavagnari. ■

Triple McShane

▲ Ian McShane as Jockey Club Investigator David Cleveland in Dick Francis's 'Twice Shy'

IAN MCSHANE, beloved of TV audiences for his starring role as the roguish antiques dealer Lovejoy, comes to Sky One in investigative mood as British Jockey Club Investigator David Cleveland in three gripping movies based on the works of best-selling author Dick Francis.

In the Frame takes him to Toronto, where a visit to an old friend leads to arson and murder, while in Twice Shy David travels to Ireland to uncover the mystery surrounding the death of a friend and soon discovers a unique betting system for which people are prepared to kill to keep secret.

Blood Sport rounds up this trio of McShane performances set against the backdrop of the racing fraternity. Don't bet against McShane being a hit! ■

News arrival

IT'S ONE THING coping with live television, but nothing prepares you for parenthood, as Sky News presenters Chris Mann and Stefanie Callister, whose first baby is due on Saturday 19th, are finding out.

'It brings a lot of changes to your life, but that doesn't really matter,' observes Chris. 'Both our families are delighted, particularly Stef's parents, as it's their first grandchild.'

There are many hazards to having a first baby, not least of which is the avalanche of conflicting advice that comes from all directions

'That was one of the reasons we didn't tell anyone. We wanted to cut all that out and deal with it in our own way.

'We've completely redecorated the house. Everything's been ready for a long time.' ■

Dudes and Babes SWITCH ON!

TVFM

Top of the Pops has passed its sell-by date, and it's time for something new. TCC has it. Produced along the same lines as The Word, only better, TVFM brings you just that – Television, Video, Film and Music – all rolled together in one show.

Gia and Konnie, two of TVFM's presenters, will be reviewing this month's top films, videos and albums, as well as catching up with Todd and Lucy from Neighbours, and finding out more about Take That. It's time you knew what was going on outside your front door. TVFM will keep you informed.

▶▶ TCC: TVFM Fridays 5.00pm ◀◀

CDQ

CDQ is a pop quiz that will stretch your knowledge of the music industry to its utmost limits.

Each team consists of two players and a 'pop' personality team captain. Rumour has it the Pasadenas will be taking up the challenge in September, and that David Grant will be hosting the show.

Each contestant must know what's going on in the music world, not only in terms of recent grooves, but a myriad of Golden Oldies as well.

Speed is of the essence, and the prize is pretty impressive too. The highest-scoring team of the week will walk away with a portable CD player, and there's even a chance for you to win while you sit at home, so make sure you tune in.

▶▶ TCC: CDQ Weekdays 4.30pm ◀◀

Fifteen

Fifteen is set at Hillside Junior High, which seems to be the focus of raging controversy, as Kelly and Brooke are plotting to split up Ashley and Matt's 'heavenly' relationship.

Courtney has to break the bad news of their parents separation to her kid brother Billy, and Kelly gets hot under the collar over Dylan. And that's just a taster. If you think you've got problems, check out this neat series to reassess your situation.

Saved by the Bell

Is Saved by the Bell really what going to school in the US of A is all about? There are a lot of Babes and Jocks milling about on this show, discussing the next game and the next cheerleader practice. It all seems a million miles away, but in fact just goes to show that everyone suffers the same grief and hassles the world over.

▶▶ TCC: Saved by the Bell weekdays 5.30pm ◀◀

Pugwall

Pugwall hates most things in life, particularly his irritating kid sister 'Marmalade'. In fact there's only one thing that keeps him going; his dream and life-long ambition to become a famous rock star. There's only one problem; he can't play (same problem as Bill and Ted – really BOGUS).

Address your letters about cable television to The Editor, Cable Guide, Communications House, 5 Factory Lane, Croydon CR9 3RA

Congratulations – but we want more!

MAY I FIRST congratulate you on the new-style Cable Guide which, as you correctly say, is 'bigger, brighter and better than ever'. Secondly, however, may I suggest one further change. I always found it disappointing in the Cable Guide not to be given any details concerning mini-series on Sky One, as I cannot tell whether it is worth watching or recording them.

I do hope that you will be able to give in future the information I would like to see.

Graham R Ritchie
Selly Oak

We have started to give fuller details of Sky One mini-series in this September issue.

It brings the house down

I AM WRITING to say how good Full House is [Sky One Thursdays 8.00pm]. I hope it never goes off the air and wish it could be shown more than once a week. I also think all the American shows are great and I hope that more will be shown.

Game, set and matchless!

I WOULD LIKE to say how much I enjoyed Eurosport's coverage of the French Open tennis. The commentators let one enjoy the play without a lot of needless chat, which can be annoying.

On cloud nine . . .

CAN YOU ENLIGHTEN me as to whether any more programmes in the Discovery Channel's Great Planes series are to be broadcast?

I have subscribed to cable for a year now and have watched with interest many of the Great Planes II, III and IV and would welcome the opportunity to catch up with the earlier programmes from Great Planes I.

Ian Harden
Lordswood
Southampton

A regular slot for plane programmes is launched this month on The Discovery Channel at 8.00pm on Fridays, Saturdays and Sundays. Strange Planes will run until the 18th. Great Planes IV will run from October 18th September to 17th, with the exception of 2nd, 3rd and 4th October, when Wings over the Gulf is scheduled. Various Great Planes III programmes will be shown in October.

A new series called Wings over the World starts in January 1993.

▲ 'Wings over the Gulf', which can be seen on The Discovery Channel

Channel crossing

I HAVE TO HAND the August issue of Cable Guide and I am pleased to see more programmes listed than in previous months. But why is each channel number not given with each channel name?

John S Pye
Mossley Hill
Liverpool

We cannot print channel numbers because they vary from one part of the country to another. For example, channel three has one station on it in Liverpool and others in Aberdeen and London. Some editions carry local pages at the front which give the channel numbers for that region.

What's hot and who's not in the WWF !

WWF Superstar Ultimate Warrior is making news again with a triumphant win in a match-up with Papa Shongo, the giant 6'8" Haitian at Glenn Falls, New York in July.

Nailz (Kevin Kelley of USWA fame) signs an open contract in the hope that Big Boss Man will accept the challenge. WWF fans will know that this is an on- going battle, after Nailz beat up Boss Man with his nightstick at a match in New Jersey.

Steroid controversy still rocks the WWF. Federation owner Vince McMahon now tests all wrestlers at random, and those found to be on the wrong side risk their careers.

WWF wrestlers The Warlord and The Barbarian have officially left this circuit to join the Century Wrestling Federation as 'The Powers of Pain' tag alliance.

It is rumoured that Sergeant Slaughter, who has been absent from numerous WWF venues, is to leave the WWF for a while and wrestle on the Japanese circuit.

Crush, the 6'8" powerhouse, has failed to keep tour dates on the current WWF Canadian Rampage. WWF insiders report he sustained arm injuries which have prevented him from competing for four weeks.

Look out for a new WWF tag team known as Double Trouble, who are expected to make their debut shortly.

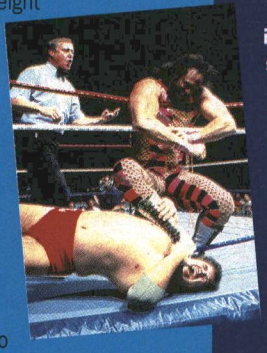
Jesse The Body Ventura has signed an extended contract with World Championship Wrestling, his dispute with the WWF is not yet settled and the likelihood of a reconciliation with Vince McMahon looks a no-go.

Many critics of the WWF still consider the popularity of the circuit is on the decline. One angle currently being considered is for the wrestlers to dispense with the comic book images and wrestle as themselves.

Going back to good, hard battles without rules and choreography could rekindle the interest of hardcore wrestlemaniacs.

Unknown to many, the WWF houses some of the finest wrestling talent in the world, and many wrestlers come from families that have been involved with the sport for years.

An example of this is Randy 'Macho Man' Savage (below), who is the son of former NWA/WCW wrestler Angelo Poffo, while Bret Hart is the son of former heavyweight wrestler Stuart 'Stu' Hart. And the list goes on . . .



Finally, the WWF has smashed the all-time record for selling tickets at Summerslam 1992, with 76,500 tickets going in six-and-a-half hours, which qualifies it for an entry in the Guinness Book of Records.

Don't forget, if you want to write to me c/o Cable Guide, please enclose a SAE and I will reply.

▲ The Million Dollar Man unearthed the Undertaker (right) for the WWF

Spotlight on The Undertaker

When it comes to style, physique, crowd appeal and unquestioned wrestling ability, Mark Calloway, aka The Undertaker, ranks among the top five WWF superstars.

Calloway, 6'8", 330 lbs, appeals to fans young and old, and is rapidly becoming a 'good guy'. In the beginning he was known as The Master of Pain, and made his professional wrestling debut in 1989 in the now-defunct Continental Wrestling Association.

In December 1989 Calloway changed his name to The Punisher and joined the USWA Circuit, rapidly becoming a big star and winning the USWA Texas title. In the same month The Punisher fought Kerry Von Erich (now WWF's Texas Tornado) and lost his title.

In January 1990 Calloway's image and credibility took a dive, and he was soon looking for pastures new. It was Teddy Long who picked up the depressed Calloway and signed him for the WCW as 'Mean Mark Callous'

During his WCW days he formed one half of 'The Skyscrapers' tag team with 'Dangerous' Dan Spivey. They had many memorable matches, but none more fierce than the matches against 'The Road Warriors' (now The Legion of Doom). Sadly Calloway split with Spivey and left the WCW.

Thanks to Ted Dibiase (Million Dollar Man), Calloway got an opportunity to wrestle in the WWF. It was Dibiase who got Vince McMahon (WWF Owner) to sign Calloway as his guest at the Survivor Series 1990.

His name changed yet again to The Undertaker, and from that day on his career has gone from strength to strength, winning the WWF Heavyweight Belt at Survivor Series 1991 some 11 months after his entry to the WWF.

Now managed by Paul Bearer, Calloway has achieved fame and fortune in less than four years.

Keep an eye on this guy. The very best is still to come.

Football crazy!

Over the next three pages 'Cable Guide' outlines the wealth of football coming down the line to viewers this season, starting here with overseas domestic leagues. There's an awful lot of thrilling football in Brazil and some of it is now shown live on Screensport, along with highlights of the Dutch and Spanish leagues

▲ Dennis Bergkamp of the Dutch team Ajax

...SOCCER IN BRAZIL is a true religion. People die for it (the death count from the most recent in-stadium fight is three), politicians rig votes to stay in control of it (no comment here or the lawyers will be after us) and the rest of the world is fascinated by it.

All soccer fans still dream about the glory teams of Brazil's heyday of the 60s and 70s. Pele, Garrincha, Rivelino, Jarzinho . . . the names were as smooth off the tongue as their skills were on the pitch.

Brazil won three World Cups and a world of admirers. Nowadays the games in the Brazilian league are just as spectacular, but don't expect to understand who is playing whom and why.

That's because the politics of Brazilian football are an almost impenetrable web of egos. Former player Zico tried and failed to end this state of confusion, to concentrate on the quality of the football not the administration and organisation. In Brazilian football they change the rules, they change the league system, they seem to change everything but the level of excitement which – thankfully – is still high.

Many of their top players head for Italy but the Brazilian league is still a breeding ground for skill, speed and superb goals.

This season will see regular live Brazilian league football on British TV for the first time.

When Screensport's coverage begins the teams to look out for are the current South American club champions Sao Paulo and last season's front runners Bragantino and Flamengo.

The focus on world soccer continues on Screensport with extended highlights of the Dutch and Spanish leagues.

The Dutch football show is another first for Screensport which anticipates broadcasting both these European leagues live later this year once a UEFA ruling (which currently obstructs pan-European live shows) is overturned.

Dutch league soccer will not have Bobby Robson's presence this year (he's off to Sporting Lisbon despite two league titles with Eindhoven) but the big three of Eindhoven, Ajax and Feyenoord seem on their way to another period of European dominance.

Spain is also among the strongest of leagues with Barcelona the current European Champions Cup holders while Real Madrid did everything but win the league last season.

The men from Madrid needed a simple draw against lowly Tenerife in the final game and were leading 2-0 at half-time. But, in true it's-a-funny-old-game fashion, Real lost 3-2 and the title went back to Barcelona.

Screensport features regular coverage of each of these leagues and is expecting to announce further soccer news in the next few weeks. ■

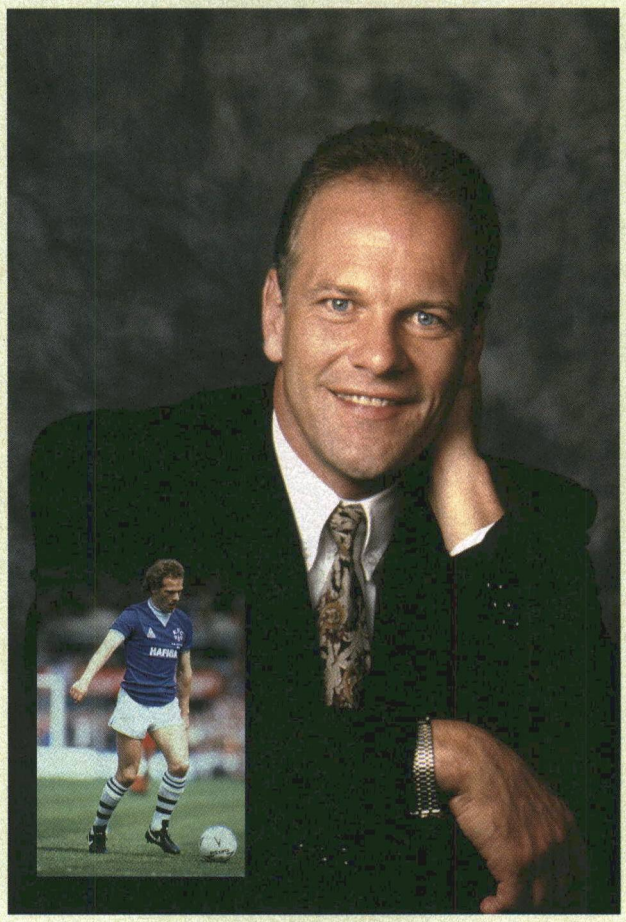
In a league



Andy Gray left Aston Villa to cover the Premier League for Sky Sports. He tells 'Cable Guide' why the League will be the 'most competitive there has been in this country'. Interview: Robin Jarossi

'I WILL MISS the hands-on involvement,' says Andy Gray of his transfer from Aston Villa's dugout to Sky Sports' gantry position on a full-time basis.

'I will miss match days. But I won't miss the long unsocial hours. I'll have more time at home.'

Last season the former international striker held down two high-pressure jobs: assistant manager at Villa Park and soccer presenter on Sky Sports.

'I thought I had squeezed everything in quite comfortably last season,' he says. 'It wasn't until the end of the season that I realised how absolutely mentally knackered I was. I was working seven days a week for about 40 weeks last year. It took a lot out of me.'

Many former players turn to media punditry only after failing in management. That Gray has moved the other way through choice is down to Sky Sports winning the Premier League with their £304 million bid.

'For a couple of months I had to wrestle with my emotions. I had a good year at Villa and thoroughly enjoyed being back in football.

'But I knew the prospect of Sky getting the Premier League could mean me coming to the channel more or less full time. It became apparent that Villa wanted me there full time as well.

'When it came down to it there was only one way the coin was going to fall and that was in favour of Sky. I wouldn't be stupid enough to say I'll never be back in management but my foreseeable future lies in television.'

All of which is good news for Andy's wife Jacqui and one-year-old daughter Sophie, not to mention his golf handicap.

IT IS EASY TO see why Sky were keen to sign up Gray. He is at ease when on air, offering a pungent, entertaining and at times irreverent analysis of a game that can take itself too seriously. And the 'I'm over the moon, Brian' platitudes are not his style at all.

His new role sees him doing pre- and post-match analysis, helping Martin Tyler and Ian Darke in the commentary box, and presenting The Boot Room (Thursdays 9.00pm), a laid-back look at soccer trends and issues.

'He's a brilliant performer both in front of camera and with the microphone,' says the Head of Sky Sports, David Hill. 'In television terms he's our Gazza.'

Like Gazza, Gray is a bit of a character. When appearing on screen in a jacket and tie on a panel programme like The Footballer's Football Show, Sky's studio staff are not surprised if off-camera below the waist he is sporting enormous knee-length shorts and moccasins.

As a player Gray enjoyed a level of success that even Paul Gascoigne would be fortunate to emulate.

In 1977 he became the only player to be awarded the PFA Young Footballer of the Year and Footballer of the Year in the same season.

He scored 224 goals in a career that took in spells at Dundee United, Aston Villa, Wolves, Everton, Notts County, West Brom and Rangers. Winners medals in the English League Championship, the FA Cup and the UEFA Cup came his way during his time at Goodison Park.

He also won 22 Scottish caps.

'I don't miss playing as much as I thought I would,' says Gray,

of his own!

Liverpool's Dean Saunders, one of the FA Premier League's top strikers who joined BSB in 1990 after leaving Rangers. 'Whereas you find a lot of players who are not able to accept that their careers are over and they pine for the past, I made up my mind very early on that once it came time to stop that would be it.

'I wanted to be happy with what I had achieved and go out and do something else.'

Gray seems genuinely excited by the prospect of presenting the new Premier League to viewers this season.

'The money that Sky are guaranteeing the clubs for their services is something the clubs deserve, it is something that will help turn the Premier League into the most competitive there has been in this country.

'It will allow the likes of Ipswich and Norwich – who have never been able to compete in the transfer market at the highest level – it will allow them to buy million-pound players.'

Won't that just lead to a general inflation of transfer fees?

'That's down to football,' says Gray. 'When I was sold for a million-and-a-half pounds in 1979 people were saying that was ridiculous.

'Had it carried on like that then you would have got maybe a £4 million transfer in 1983. But what happened was that football came to its senses. Transfers dropped off and people were more sensible. That has got to happen again.

'I think £4 million for any player in this country is more than enough.'

On the field Gray believes the Premier League can restore faith in the English game after the embarrassment of the European Championship.

'From the English point of view it was an absolute nightmare,' he says. 'For a team that was being tipped to win the competition to fail as miserably as they did must have been a huge blow.

'It's been a huge blow for the public. I think they are a little bit disillusioned. That's why the Premier League season is a big one.

'What we hope to do TV-wise is to bring a new concept of football to viewers.' Special camera angles, on-screen statistics and match-day phone-ins are part of the package.

Says Gray: 'We hope to bring viewers things they haven't seen before and a passion and a love of the game.'

On the negative side Gray believes a 22-club League is too big. 'I would like the League to be something like 18 clubs. But you are going to be hard-pushed to get that. Which four clubs are going to say, I'm happy to drop out of the Premier League and lose a million-and-a-half gauranteed each year?'

And as for the new back-pass rule: 'I'm not a fan of it at all. But I'm here to be proved wrong.' ■

Andy Gray's Forecasts

Champions

'Arsenal will be the team to beat. George Graham has strengthened the squad during the summer and for two-thirds of last season they were the best team in the country.'

Dark Horses

Aston Villa: 'We made an awful lot of changes at Villa last season and finished a creditable seventh. Villa are now a far more settled side.'

Players to Watch

'Arsenal's Ian Wright and Kevin Campbell will excite the fans. Gordon Strachan of Leeds for his experience, skill and ability. Darren Anderton of Spurs.' Alan Shearer of Blackburn? 'He couldn't have picked a more difficult team to be a hit at because they are not a fancied side. Kenny Dalglish will no doubt spend and spend but whether he will get the right players I don't know.'

FA Cup

'I plump for Man City and my old mate Peter Reid.'

Relegation

'Coventry will have it all to do. And unless there's money well spent, Southampton will struggle.'

Getting over The Hill

By 1965 Sean Connery and his licence to kill were firmly ensconced in the public consciousness. But in an attempt to get away from the Bond image, Connery interrupted his lucrative spying career to slip away between Goldfinger and Thunderball to do a real job of acting in The Hill.

Described by some critics as 'a lurid melodrama which descends quickly into black farce with a number of sweaty actors out-shouting each other', Kenneth Hyman's production of The Hill is actually a tough, uncompromising look at the inside of a British military prison in the Middle East during the last war, and was easily the best film of its year.

Ray Rigby's grim screenplay, adapted from his own play, which was written with RS Allen, presents a harsh and relentlessly brutal entertainment, superbly acted by a talented cast and, importantly, making no concessions to officialdom.

The film follows the fortunes of an intake of new prisoners. One of these, Joe Roberts, is a busted Sergeant Major who automatically becomes a natural target for the vindictive and sadistic treatment meted out by officers and guards. Connery's portrayal of Roberts is intelligent and restrained, and carefully avoids forced histrionics.

The other prisoners include Jacko King (Ozzie Davis), a black soldier who has been sent down for drinking three bottles of scotch from the officers mess, as well Alfred Lynch as George Stevens, the late Roy Kinnear as Monty Bartlett and Jack Watson as Jock McGrath.

Ian Hendry is supremely malevolent as Staff Williams, a drill-sergeant from Hell who subjects his charges to repeated psychological and mental agonies, while Ian Bannen's more sympathetic Staff Harris tries to cushion the blows.

The juiciest role, however, went to Harry Andrews who does a stand-out job as Regimental Sergeant Major Wilson, with sterling support from Michael Redgrave as the weak and emasculated medical officer appalled at the goings on.

In case you were wondering, the 'Hill' of the title is a man-made pile of sand in the middle of the parade ground over which the soldier-prisoners have to run in full kit in the desert heat, often until they are physically exhausted, as part of a punishment designed to break men's spirits rather than provide corrective treatment. Director Sidney Lumet turns on the heat for both audience and actors.

'They went up like men! They came down like animals!' roared the publicity of the day, and it wasn't kidding. Punished to breaking point by the sadism of his tormentors, it isn't long before Stevens collapses and dies, triggering a mutiny which is one of the most powerful and dramatic sequences of the film.

The Hill wasn't expected to do great business at the box office, but to everyone's surprise it enjoyed fine reviews and Connery's performance as the ox-like rebel proved that in the right part he could be a formidable actor, something that became more apparent later on when he discarded the Bond image for good. ■

THE OFFICIAL UNITED STATES MILITARY ISSUE GENUINE LEATHER A-2 FLYING JACKET

A Part of American Military History.

The brown A-2 Leather Flying Jacket is one of the most famous pieces of battle gear in history. U.S. Pilots relied on it for protection and comfort during World War II. The "Flying Tigers" wore A-2's as they flew their P-40 Warhawks into action across China. The B-25 Bomber crews wore A-2's on their daring carrier-launched raid on Tokyo. Lightweight and comfortable, yet "tough as nails", the A-2 identified its wearer as one of the elite fighting men of the time, that rare and brave breed of aerial combatants.

Genuine U.S. Military Issue. Not a Commercial Reproduction.

Cooper was an original supplier of the A-2's worn by America's World War II flying heroes. Now, after a 45-year retirement from active duty, the U.S. Air Force has re-commissioned the A-2 and selected Cooper as the official Government contract manufacturer. Now you can own the very same jacket issued to U.S. Air Force pilots. Not a reproduction – this is the genuine article!

Produced to Military Specification.

The Cooper A-2 is made in the U.S.A. using materials and production methods specified by the U.S. Air Force. Premium hand stitched goatskin ensures ruggedness and great looks. Knitted cuffs and waist band and a spun cotton-blend lining ensure draught-free comfort. Further details include regulation snap-down collar, epaulets, a corrosion-free brass zip and spacious snap-close pockets.

Certificate of Authenticity.

You will also receive a certificate of authenticity stating that your jacket is an official U.S. Air Force A-2. Battle proven and built for long life, the Cooper A-2 actually gets better-looking with age.

Payable in Convenient Monthly Instalments.

The Cooper A-2 Leather Flying Jacket can be yours for just £227.50 (plus £2.50 postage and packing). You can pay in four monthly credit card instalments of just £57.50, or in a single payment of £230.00 if you prefer to pay by cheque. This is a unique opportunity and your satisfaction is guaranteed. If you are not completely delighted with your jacket, simply return it in its original condition within 30 days for exchange or refund. The Cooper A-2 is available in even sizes 32-48, regular or long. AFRICAN NATIONS CUP

OK, there's no scantily clad ladies gyrating to pulsing samba rhythms. But surely the sight of a Brazilian footballer in full flight is enough to get any man's heart racing. Our coverage of the Brazilian league starts the last week of August. And as well as Saturday night games, we've got highlights every Thursday. Of course, there's a lot of wonderful football being played all over the world (excluding a small island twenty miles off the French coast). We've got the very best league action from Spain and Holland. We're showing World Cup qualifiers, including the European Champions, Denmark and oh yes, those Spaniards again. And the African Nations and Copa American Cups are also on our agenda. What's more, unlike other sports stations we could mention, there are no extra charges with Screensport. All of which should make us number one for world football. Well, that's our GOOOOOOOAAAAAALLLLLLL anyway.

The pop world is all ears – and eyes! – for two exclusive MTV events this month. The first is the MTV Video Music Awards on the 9th, featuring the world's most exciting new stars. And then on the 21st, one of the award nominees, Annie Lennox, is captured in a rare live performance . . .

ON 17 JULY MTV announced the finalists chosen to compete in each category of the 1992 MTV Video Music Awards.

The winners will be announced at the ninth annual telecast of the MTV Video Music Awards, which will be broadcast live around the world from UCLA's Pauley Pavillion in Los Angeles.

Twenty awards will be presented for excellence in the field of video music, including the Video Vanguard, Viewer's Choice and International Viewer's Choice.

The announcements will be made by Wayne's World star and Saturday Night Live regular Dana Carvey, who will be hosting the Awards for the first time.

Awards in previous years have gone to artists like Neil Young, Sinead O'Connor, REM and Roxette, and have included performances by Cher, Phil Collins, INXS, Paula Abdul and C&C Music factory.

Bands performing live this year include The Red Hot Chilli Peppers, (up for a staggering eight awards for Best Video of the Year, Best Group, Best Alternative Video, Best Direction, Best Art Direction, Best Editing, Best Cinematography and Breakthrough Video), En Vogue, who are in with a chance for six, and Nirvana, nominated for a desultory three awards.

As a special feature U2 will join the show via satellite from Chicago, where they are on tour. Bono and the boys have been nominated for Best Group Video, Best Special Effects and Best Editing for Even Better Than the Real Thing. Other finalists include Eric Clapton, Tom Petty and John Mellencamp for Best Male Video; Tori Amos, Annie Lennox and Madonna for Best Female Video; and En Vogue, Red Hot Chilli Peppers, U2 and Van Halen for Best Group Video (full list overleaf).

MTV's other exclusive event this month also features the elusive Annie Lennox. MTV Unplugged has captured the one-time Eurythmics vocalist in her first live concert for over two years and her first since her debut solo album. Recorded live at the 1992 Montreux Jazz Festival, Annie performs hits past and present. As she has no tour planned, this is a rare chance to catch her in concert.

POP VIDEOS OFFER a heady cocktail of sex, love, high finance, low morals and larger-than-life characters. They cost millions, they enthral millions and are influential enough now to warrant the Irn-Bru Pop Video Exhibition at London's Museum of the Moving Image, the first exhibition in the world to focus exclusively on pop video and the story of song on screen.

Some say the history of the pop video can be traced to the early pioneers of sound and film like Thomas Edison and Warner Brothers Vitaphone system, while others claim that the first rumblings were heard when the 1956 release of Elvis Presley's film Love Me Tender hinted at the influence that rock idols were to have on the visual medium.

The real beginnings of what are today thought of as pop videos were the Beatles feature A Hard Day's Night, which used rapid jump-cuts and odd camera angles to illustrate a profusion of songs, and two short promos that were made to accompany the release of Penny Lane and Strawberry Fields Forever.

By the early 1970s British TV pop shows like The Old Grey Whistle Test were showing specially edited film clips and vintage animation to complement features music tracks.

But the event that is generally regarded as quintessential to the emergence of today's pop video was the stylish and lavish film laden with camera effects that was released to promote Queen's classic Bohemian Rhapsody in 1975. The film became a phenomenon, and heralded the start of a new era in music marketing. Other milestone pop videos include David Bowie's Ashes to Ashes (pictured below), Godley and Creme's Cry, Once in a Lifetime by Talking Heads and Michael Jackson's Thriller.

With the pop video now established as the medium for promoting rock music, all that was needed was a means of allowing mass access. 1991 saw the launch of MTV, a commercial cable and satellite channel that beamed pop promos across Europe and America 24 hours a day. ■

The Irn-Bru Pop Video Exhibition at London's Museum of the Moving Image is on now, and there's a chance for you to win a free family ticket (admitting two adults and up to four children)!

The exhibition features the impact of the talkies, the Presley films, Ken Russell's Tommy and a special look at music television and MTV in particular. Now you can win one of three family tickets to go and see the exhibition. Simply answer the following question: Who had a no 1 hit in 1979 with Video Killed the Radio Star? The first three correct entries opened on 20 September will win a family ticket to the Irn-Bru Pop Video Exhibition at the Museum of the Moving Image.

Entries on a postcard to: Irn-Bru Pop Video Competition, The Editor, Cable Guide, Communications House, 5 Factory Lane, Croydon CR9 3RA

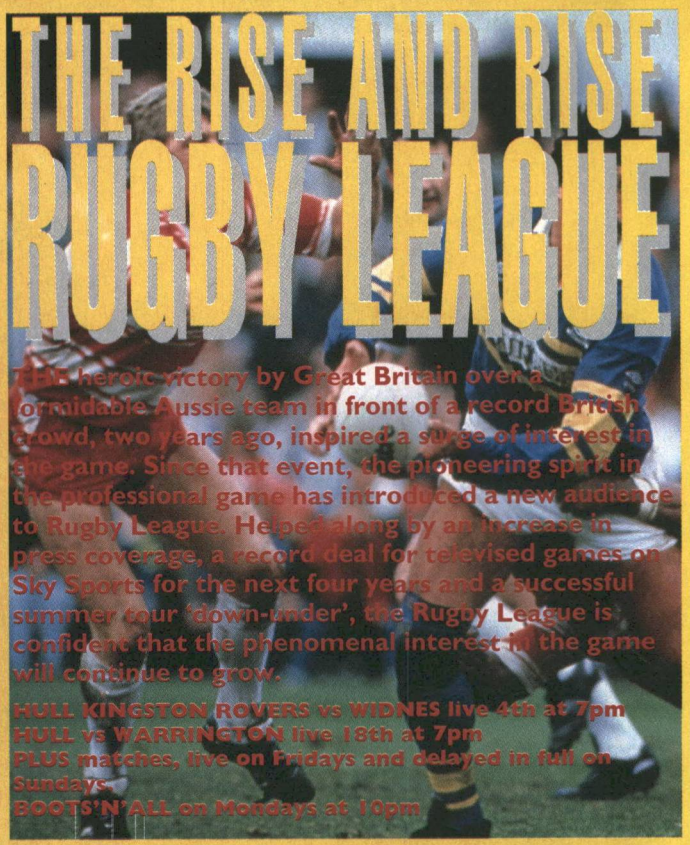
EACH of the Grand Slam tournaments has its own angle. The Australian Open launches the season, the French Open is the most glamourous affair, Wimbledon is the hardest for players brought up on hard-court surfaces and the US Open Tennis Championship - the final Grand Slam event of the year - is famed as the richest of the Open events. But last year the money and the glamour were forgotten as 39-year old Jimmy Connors staged a come back to confound his age and his critics.

This year the big questions are - Will Andre Agassi be able to emulate his popular victory at Wimbledon? Will the Americans make as much noise as the Brits about the vocal flexings of Monica Seles?

US Open Tennis Championship, daily live coverage from the 31st August to 13th September.

THE RISE AND RISE RUGBY LEAGUE



THE heroic victory by Great Britain over a formidable Aussie team in front of a record British crowd, two years ago, inspired a surge of interest in the game. Since that event, the pioneering spirit in the professional game has introduced a new audience to Rugby League. Helped along by an increase in press coverage, a record deal for televised games on Sky Sports for the next four years and a successful summer tour 'down-under', the Rugby League is confident that the phenomenal interest in the game will continue to grow.

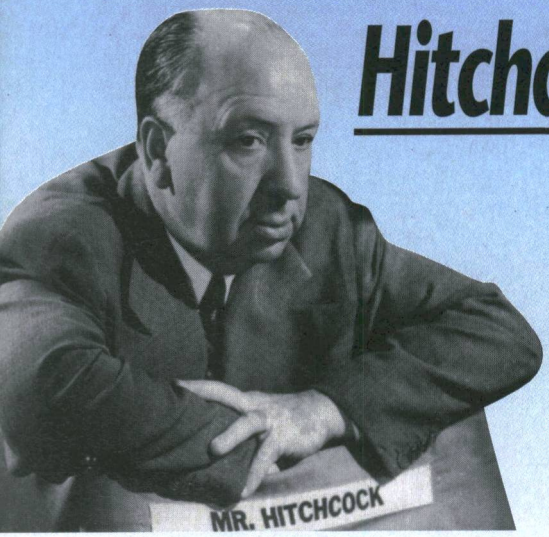
BRAVO

Hitchcock and the American Way



In twenty three pictures he had shown a fledgling British cinema industry the way, with his extraordinary eye and highly individual way of telling a story. The edge-of-seat was already his domain - no one made a thriller quite like him, with his deft use of humour, suspense and sexuality, but nobody could deny that his future lay across the pond and beyond.

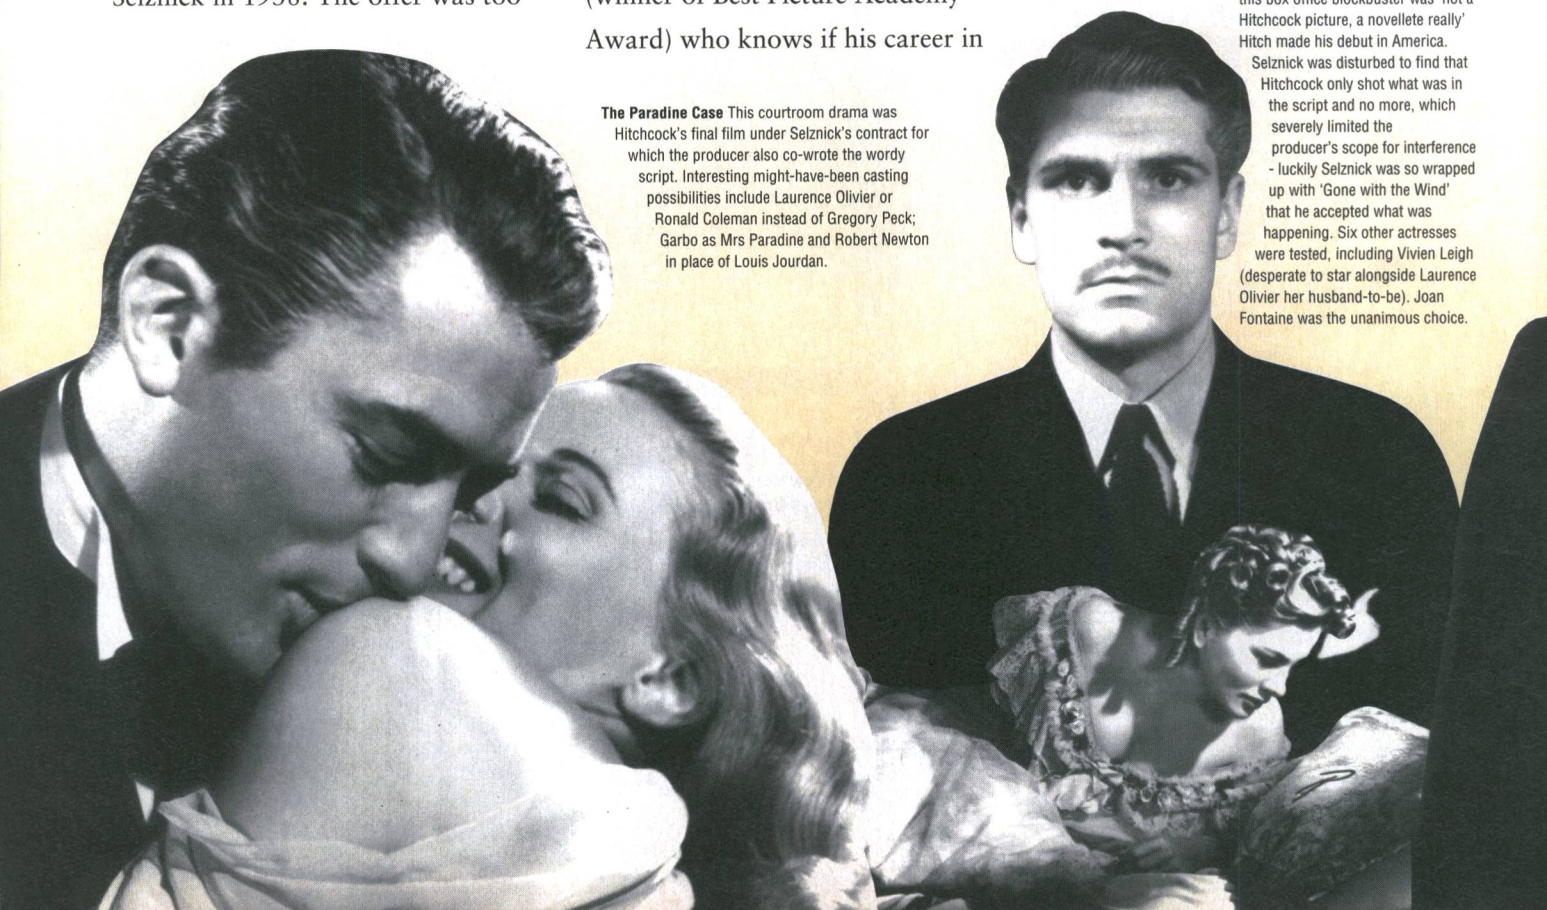
The call came from David O. Selznick in 1938. The offer was too good to ignore. So, as the war clouds gathered over Blighty, and the burning of Atlanta was about to set movie houses alight across the States, Alfred Hitchcock moved lock, stock and reputation to Hollywood. It was entirely logical. Cinema was his life. He had to go wherever it took him. He had simply outgrown the British film industry. The Hollywood studio machine impressed him - the budgets were huge, and everything seemed possible. A dedicated film-maker like Hitchcock just had to see for himself. Had war not intervened it's impossible to know if Hitchcock would have stayed in America. Similarly, had Rebecca his first film for Selznick, been anything less than the tremendous success it was (winner of Best Picture Academy Award) who knows if his career in Hollywood would have been quite so triumphant?

But the British Film Industry's loss was to be world cinema's gain, and the American Way of film-making became his - though, of course, Hitchcock never lost his quintessential Englishness. Even when he gained his American citizenship fifteen years later, he was still the most ridiculously english American in the world.

Perhaps it was this culture clash, that gave Hitchcock his unique edge in the second half of his career. It's as good a theory as any to explain his paradoxical blend of reserve and showmanship; his natural understatement yet intuitive

The Paradine Case This courtroom drama was Hitchcock's final film under Selznick's contract for which the producer also co-wrote the wordy script. Interesting might-have-been casting possibilities include Laurence Olivier or Ronald Coleman instead of Gregory Peck; Garbo as Mrs Paradine and Robert Newton in place of Louis Jourdan.

Rebecca With the self admission that this box office blockbuster was 'not a Hitchcock picture, a novellete really' Hitch made his debut in America. Selznick was disturbed to find that Hitchcock only shot what was in the script and no more, which severely limited the producer's scope for interference - luckily Selznick was so wrapped up with 'Gone with the Wind' that he accepted what was happening. Six other actresses were tested, including Vivien Leigh (desperate to star alongside Laurence Olivier her husband-to-be). Joan Fontaine was the unanimous choice.



LIVING ON THE EDGE

The Hill A powerful, chilling drama of life in a military prison camp during WW2 with all eyes focused on a man-made pyramid of sand - the object of cruel punishment designed to crush a man's spirit. Superb performances by Sean Connery, Harry Andrews, Ian Bannen, Ian Hendry and Sir Michael Redgrave. Gritty direction by Sidney Lumet.

sense of high drama, all wrapped up in the most immaculate timing since Clark Kent first discovered what phone boxes were really for.

On second thought, forget the theory, just enjoy the magic of The Hitchcock Season on Bravo this month, featuring four classics from his early days in Hollywood. Extra large bucket of popcorn recommended.

David Parkeber

Spellbound Otherwise known as 'The House of Doctor Edwardes' is what Hitchcock disarmingly called 'just another manhunt story wrapped up in psuedo-pyschoanalysis'. Features a bizarre dream sequence designed by Salvador Dali not all of which was acceptable to Hitch (notably a scene which would show a statue breaking apart to reveal Ingrid Bergman inside covered with ants). Also stars Gregory Peck.

Notorious Echoes of Casablanca in this tense, tale of espionage and romance set in post-war Rio based on an idea by Hitch himself (he actually got an on-screen credit for 'story idea' - most unusual). Full of classic Hitchcock touches, inventive camera moves and inspired acting by Ingrid Bergman, a wickedly cool Cary Grant and Claude Rains. First offered to Selznick who found the plot implausible, and so made by RKO.

Andie work!

▲ Andie Mac Dowell and Gerard Depardieu

IT HAS BEEN a long time coming, but Andie MacDowell can at last be slotted into the leading lady class of major Hollywood stars.

There have been setbacks for the 33-year-old actress, like the humiliation of having her voice dubbed by Glenn Close in her debut movie Greystoke: The Legend of Tarzan.

And after her career as a highly paid model she has found film stardom on her own terms, for example refusing to appear nude to avoid embarrassing her husband and two children.

Her first screen success came five years after Greystoke. Her intriguing performance as a repressed wife in the acclaimed sex, lies and videotape saw her nominated for the best actress award at Cannes.

She turned next to romantic comedy playing opposite Gerard Depardieu (in his American screen debut) in Green Card, which is premiered on The Movie Channel this month.

Depardieu stars as a Frenchman who, in order to stay in the States, marries native New Yorker MacDowell. However the marriage of convenience is in trouble when the couple, who hardly know eachother, is investigated by the authorities.

Both Depardieu (who can soon be seen in Ridley Scott's Columbus epic 1492) and MacDowell won Golden Globes.

The movie features a funny performance by Bebe Neuwirth, also known as frosty Lilith in Cheers.

MacDowell bounced back as only a star can after the critical drubbing of her next movie, Hudson Hawk.

She can soon be seen as a lead star for the first time in a new exotic romantic drama called Ruby Cairo. ■

Rocky on the rocks

YES, IT SEEMS as though Rocky Balboa has come to the end of the road, as Sylvester Stallone's boxing hero returns for the last time in the fifth episode of the phenomenally successful Rocky series.

The gloves are off for Rocky in the final chapter of the sporting saga, which finds the former champion down on his luck, retired from the ring with brain injuries and forced to return to the mean streets of South Philadelphia with his family.

Here, in the place where his boxing skills were first developed, Rocky finds new hope for the future in the shape of an eager young apprentice named Tommy Gunn, played by newcomer Tommy Morrison.

This return to Rocky's roots was directed by John G Avildsen who, along with Stallone, first introduced the perennial underdog hero to the rest of the world, winning an Oscar in the process.

After the glossy, comic-book quality of the previous two films, Rocky V returns to the gritty, realistic feel of the original movie, and also stars Stallone regulars Talia Shire, Burt Young and Burgess Meredith. ■

▲ Meryl Streep and Shirley Mac Laine

A BLACK comedy about a mother-daughter relationship set against the backdrop of the Hollywood community (rather than a greetings message from U2's guitarist), Mike Nichols's Postcards from the Edge stars Meryl Streep as Suzanne Vale, an actress struggling to rebuild her life after a near-fatal overdose lands her in a drug rehab clinic. Things take a turn for the worse when she is forced to move back in with her alcoholic mother Doris Mann, a popular musical-comedy star of the 1950s and 1960s played by Shirley MacLaine.

Playing the men in Suzanne's life are Dennis Quaid, Gene Hackman and Richard Dreyfuss, Quaid appearing as a sexually voracious and decidedly unchivalrous hot-shot producer.

The film's based on the novel and screenplay by Star Wars actress Carrie Fisher (herself the daughter of a major star, Debbie Reynolds). ■

The kid's back in town

CHUCKY, the knee-high killer children's doll returns to wreak more murderous havoc in Child's Play 2, the chilling sequel to Tom Holland's disconcerting original.

Alex Vincent, young star of the 1988 movie, returns to take on the miniscule menace once more, while Brad Dourif (remembered recently from Mississippi Burning, but always great value in movies like Cuckoo's Nest and Blue Velvet) reprises his purely vocal role as the voice of the foul-mouthed Chucky.

Joining the cast are British actress Jenny Agutter and yet another Twin Peaks star Grace Zabriskie, who can be seen in David Lynch's forthcoming big-screen movie Twin Peaks: Fire Walk with Me.

The film is directed by John Lafia, who wrote the screenplay for the original hit Child's Play. A second sequel set in a military academy, innovatively titled Child's Play 3, has already appeared in the United States and is due for release here later this year. ■

▲ Michelle Pfeiffer and Sean Connery

The spy who loved Michelle

SEAN CONNERY and Michelle Pfeiffer star in the big-screen adaptation of John Le Carre's best-selling novel The Russia House.

Connery plays a boozy book publisher sent to Russia by British Intelligence to liaise with Moscow contact Pfeiffer and confirm the verity of a secret military document leaked to the West.

The movie is the first US film to be made entirely in Russia, with director Fred Schepisi making the most of locations like Red Square, Leningrad's Palace Square, the Kazan Icon of the Mother of God, the Winter Palace of the Czar and GUM, the world's largest department store.

The novel was adapted for the screen by Tom Stoppard, who was brought on to the project when Le Carre, who had been toying with the idea of writing the screenplay himself, dropped out.

The Czechoslovakian playwright is now one of the most sought-after writers of stage and screen, following his work on Steven Spielberg's Empire of the Sun and his directorial debut with Rosencrantz and Guildenstern Are Dead.

Meanwhile, Connery is currently shooting a new thriller entitled Rising Sun, surprisingly set in Japan and directed by Henry and June's Philip Kaufman. ■

ALL-STAR ATTRACTIONS

ROBIN HOOD The Movie Channel Monday 21st 10.05pm
Patrick Bergin, also seen this month in Mountains of the Moon, takes the titular role in this handsome adventure romp, one of two Robin Hood movies made in 1991.

Bergin makes for a convincingly stylish Robin, switching from dashing to dangerous to devil-may-care in his persecution of the evil Sir Miles Folconet, while Uma Thurman provides romantic interest as a reluctant Maid Marian who faces the prospect of married life with the nobleman. Edward Fox is in shamelessly hammy mood as King John.

THE AMBULANCE Sky Movies Plus Saturday 12th 10.00pm
Cult director Larry Cohen presents yet another eerie, imaginative and blackly comic tale set on the streets of his native New York.

Cohen got the idea for making a film about a mysterious killer ambulance after a night in Los Angeles when he ate some blackened fish, Cajun style, at a swanky restaurant. It disagreed with him to the point that he was taken to hospital in an ambulance, and the ride left a lasting impression on him.

Among the players attempting to get to the bottom of the mystery are Eric Roberts, brother to Julia, Matewan star James Earl Jones, Northern Exposure's Janine Turner and showbusiness veteran Red Button, to whose show aspiring writer Cohen once applied for a job!

AVALON The Movie Channel Sunday 13th 6.05pm
Barry Levinson, Oscar-winning director of Rain Man, brings the sprawling, semi-autobiographical saga Avalon to the screen.

The movie features a large, multi generational and ethnically diverse cast including Armin Mueller-Stahl, Aidan Quinn and British stage and screen favourite Joan Plowright.

The film chronicles the divergent forces that influence one immigrant family, the Krichinskys, over a 50-year period that extends into the 1960s, returning to the style of Diner, the movie that first brought Levinson to the attention of public and critics, and also marks his return to his hometown of Baltimore

KING RALPH Sky Movies Plus Sunday 27th 8.00pm
John Goodman stars as an unlikely monarch in this scandalous comedy which wipes out the entire Royal family in one scene and places a Las Vegas lounge singer on the British throne.

King Ralph marked Goodman's debut as a lead star, following a host of movie-stealing supporting performances in films like The Big Easy, Sea of Love and Raising Arizona.

Goodman, who recently received another Emmy for his performance as Roseanne's husband Dan, is currently filming a remake of the 1950 George Cukor comedy Born Yesterday, along with Melanie Griffith and Don Johnson.

Motor Racing: European Rallycross Championship

Screensport 7.30pm
Round nine of the European Rallycross Championship takes place at the Eurocircuit in Valkenswaard, a small town in Eindhoven in the Netherlands. In contrast to the Belgian circuit in round eight, this is a very fast track which will favour the faster and more powerful cars. After the Dutch round of last year's championship, the Valkenswaard circuit came in for a great deal of criticism and track officials were reprimanded by FISA. Consequently, more than a quarter-of-a-million pounds has been spent on the track, which is now one of the best on the circuit.

GENERAL

Shark Week: The Great Shark Hunt

The Discovery Channel 5.00pm

TV programmes have emphasised or sensationalised the threat sharks pose to humans. But what of the reverse? The real kill ratio, says Samuel H Gruber, a leading world authority on sharks, is about 4 million to one in our favour.
We use shark meat, skin, carcasses, teeth, eyes, fins (an aphrodisiac) and liver (a derivative of which is supposed to promote better life and health - it only costs £1 less per gramme than gold!). Sharks have a more important real value, however, than those which serve human appetites and follies. This film shows why they are too valuable to us to exploit.

Gray told cable Guide: "It's a very laid-back look at football. A supporter-orientated programme'.

FILMS

It's In The Bag

Bravo 8.00pm

Comedian Fred Allen plays host to a plethora of radio comics in this farce about a flea-circus owner and his search for a chair in which a $12 million inheritance is hidden. The plot soon goes out the window in favour of unrelated but zany episodes, including a hilarious encounter between Allen and the allegedly miserly Jack Benny.

Loosely adapted from the Russian story "The twelve Chairs', and more faithfully filmed in 1970 under its original title, and also as "12 + 1', it also stars Binnie Barnes, Sidney Toler (lampooning his own Charlie Chan character), Rudy Vallee and Don Ameche, best-known for his senior citizen appearances in the "Cocoon' series.

Amelia Shankley stars as the young Red Riding Hood, who faces peril not only from the story's more familiar lupine threat, but also from numerous sorcerers and spies who lurk deep in the enchanted forest. Isabella Rossellini, taking a break from her more macabre roles in David Lynch's "Blue Velvet' and "Wild At Heart', appears here in the role of Red Riding Hood's mother Lady Jeanne. Also starring Craig T Nelson, Rocco Sisto and Linda Kaye.

FILMS

Johnny Guitar

Bravo 8.00pm

The famous and unbelievably moody "Freudian Western" starring Joan Crawford as the strong-willed owner of a gambling saloon situated in the wilderness of Arizona. Mercedes McCambridge, best-remembered opposite James Dean as Luz Benedict in George Stevens's "Giant", plays her rival, the bitter leader of a nearby community, who wants to drive Crawford out of the area for good. The unpredictable Sterling Hayden provides riotous humour with his aggressively strummed guitar and smouldering cheroot held at a jaunty angle. Directed by Nicholas Ray of "Rebel Without A Cause' fame, and adapted from the novel by Roy Chanslor.

Cry In The Wild: The Taking of Peggy Ann

Sky Movies Plus 8.00pm

A harrowing drama based on the true story of Peggy Ann Bradnick, a seventeen-year-old girl who became the subject of the largest manhunt in Pennsylvania State history when she was abducted by a deranged loner.
Kidnapped from her rural hometown, Peggy Ann (Megan Follows of "Anne of Green Gables' fame) is taken deep into the dense Pennsylvanian wilderness by a crazed mountain man known as Bicycle Pete ("St Elsewhere's' David Morse), who chains her to a tree at night, while pushing her on remorselessly to an unknown destination by day.

GENERAL

Buster Keaton: A Hard Act to Follow

The Discovery Channel 8.00pm

Ranking with the other two silent comedy giants Charlie Chaplin and Harold Lloyd, Keaton was clearly a genius. Unlike them he was unconcerned about financial security and personal safety. He was uncompromisingly sentimental, developing the famous "dead pan' expression that became his trade mark. This series draws on rare archive film and unique interviews with Keaton, his third wife Eleanor and his close friends and associates to trace the life and career of the man who never regarded himself as anything more than a simple comedian.
Born in a trunk in 1895, Keaton joined the family act as soon as he could walk and quickly became a favourite with audiences.

FILMS

Rebecca

Bravo 8.00pm

Daphne du Maurier's tragically eerie tale of the attempts by a man's second wife to emulate her husband's first wife, who was killed at sea. The first film made in America by Alfred Hitchcock is impeccably made, and is totally absorbing to watch. Laurence Olivier is cast as the moody master of Manderley, Joan Fontaine plays his innocent bride, and Dame Judith Anderson is fabulous as the sinister housekeeper and confidante of the former wife.

GENERAL

Roots: The Next Generations

Sky One 8.00pm

In 1750 Kunta Kinte was born in The Gambia, West Africa, to Binta and Omoro under the watchful eye of grandmother Nyo Boto. Kunta grows up free and happy, guided to manhood by Brima Casey, the Kitango, the Wrestler, and an African tribesman who teaches him a lesson in manners. When the boy is 17 he is taken prisoner by slave catchers and shipped to America on a vessel commanded by the conscience-stricken Captain Davies and the amoral Third Mate Slater. Starring Cicely Tyson, Maya Angelou, Ji-Tu Cumbuka and Moses Gunn.

SPORT

Formula 1 - Italian Grand Prix

Eurosport 12.30pm

Live coverage of the 13th Grand Prix of the season and with it being an exciting circuit at Monza this should be a thriller. With Nigel Mansell having led for much of the season he will want to finish the last four races in style and this track should suit him and his Williams-Renault car. This is probably the fastest Formula 1 circuit around (average speed 150mph) featuring very long straights linked by chicanes.

FILMS
Frankenstein Unbound

Sky Movies Plus 1.15am
Mary Shelley's classic horror novel "Frankenstein, The Modern Prometheus', gets a revisionary spin from director Roger Corman (his first film for 20 years).
John Hurt plays Dr Joseph Buchanan, a 21st Century scientist who is whisked back to 19th Century Switzerland. Once there, he comes face-to-face with Dr Victor Frankenstein (Raul Julia), an obsessive scientist who claims to have unlocked the life-giving secrets of the Universe by creating a man-like monster. Learning that a future classic work of fiction is, in fact, a true story, Buchanan seeks out the story's young authoress (Bridget Fonda) to find out more about the creature that is terrorising the countryside. Jason Patric ("Rush") and Michael Hutchence of INXS play Byron and Shelley.

GENERAL
Punky Brewster

The Comedy Channel 4.30pm
A comedy designed for young audiences. It concerns a loveable and independent little girl whose name is "Punky', an adaptation of the nickname "Spunky' which she couldn't pronounce as a little girl. Independent-minded and resourceful, she manages to maintain a cheery outlook on life that is in keeping with her nickname.

SPORT
Monday Night Football - Live

Sky Sports 7.00pm
Coventry City entertain Tottenham Hotspur at Highfield Road. Neither Spurs nor Coventry are expected to lead the chase for the inaugural FA Premier League title but it is a part of BSkyB's new approach to televising the League to give the armchair fan a comprehensive view of all the participants. Every match between these two teams revives memories of the 1987 FA Cup Final, which Coventry won against expectations in extra time. Most players from both clubs have moved on but Spurs are still led by the resolute Gary Mabbutt while Coventry keeper Steve Ogrizovic is still a towering presence for the Sky Blues.

Monday continues overleaf...

Screensport 9.00pm
The Equity and Law Challenge is a special event which takes place annually at the Royal Mid Surrey Golf Club in Richmond, Middlesex. During the season Equity and Law have a point system table charting the number of birdies, eagles and albatrosses players have scored during the season. After the Murphy's English Open, the top 30 players in the table are invited to take part in the Challenge, plus three other nominated professionals. The event, held over two days, is a 54-hole competition and has a modified sableford format. Players score one point for a birdie, two for an eagle and three for an albatross. Prize money of £139,500 is on offer, which includes a £53,000 bonus pool for the top four qualifiers to the event. Screensport has highlights of the closing stages.

Deranged

HVC 11.30pm

A pregnant woman is savagely beaten by a masked intruder. As she relives her terrifying ordeal, the events of that night leave her fighting a constant battle with her emotions. Her madness slowly starts to consume her, until she is the one who becomes deranged. Starring Jane Hamilton, Paul Siederman, Jennifa Deloras and J Gillis.

GENERAL

Buster Keaton: A Hard Act to Follow

The Discovery Channel 8.00pm

Ranking with the other two silent comedy giants Charlie Chaplin and Harold Lloyd, Keaton was clearly a genius. Unlike them he was unconcerned about financial security and personal safety. He was uncompromisingly unsentimental, developing the famous "dead pan' expression that became his trademark. This series draws on rare archive film and unique interviews with Keaton, his third wife Eleanor and his close friends and associates to trace the life and career of the man who never regarded himself as anything more than a simple comedian.
Once established as one of the top three comedians with films like "Seven Chances', "Battling Butler' and his masterpiece "The General', Keaton got a new contract with MGM, but with it a drinking problem that eventually got him fired and divorced. Who would have expected a comeback 20 years later?

The First Power

Sky Movies Plus 10.00pm

Gripping supernatural cop thriller starring Lou Diamond Phillips as Russell Logan, a Los Angeles homicide cop on the trail of a very different sort of serial killer: a Devil-worshipping incorporeal spirit with the ability to possess people and act through their bodies.

This makes things understandably difficult for Logan, tracking down a murderer whose identity keeps changing and who seems to have grudge against our hero. In order to give him an advantage in this terrifying cat-and-mouse game around the seamier parts of LA, Logan enlists the aid of Tess Seaton (Tracy Griffith), a psychic who can anticipate the diabolical killer's next move. Directed by Robert Resnikoff.

Chris Eubank makes a mandatory defence of his WBO super middleweight title against Tony Thornton from the USA. The American could provide stiff opposition for Eubank. As well as being the official WBO challenger, he is rated number one by the IBF, number two by the WBC and number three by the WBA. This is his first crack at a world title and he is quoted as saying: "I'm coming to fight, not to dance like Ron Essett.' His record 31: victories (24 KOs), four defeats and a draw. Today's Choice

FILMS

King of the Hill

The Movie Channel 6.15pm

A touching, low-key baseball drama which proved to be one of the more popular entries at the 1990 London Film Festival and the prestigious 1991 Sundance Film festival.
William Russ stars as Roy Dean Bream, a minor league ball player who is still devoted to the game despite being considered over the hill at 41.
Isolated by the rest of his team mates, Bream finds a friend in rookie Tyrone (Glenn Plummer), a 17-year-old black pitcher who proves to be a willing receptacle for Bream's teachings.
However, Bream's career would appear to be approaching the bottom of the ninth, as continual big game mistakes finally force his kindly coach (Noble Willingham) to consider firing him.
Beautifully shot and sensitively rendered, this is one of the most dramatically satisfying but criminally overlooked baseball films of recent years, marking a notable debut for director Robin B Armstrong.

When Lily is taught a painful lesson for her skimming of Mob profits, she crosses back across the country to visit her son. She finds him sick in hospital under the spell of Myra, a young woman who uses her seductive charm to operate elaborate long-term scams that yield big bucks. jealous of her son's involvement with the untrustworthy Myra and certain that she will lead him astray, Lily attempts to come between them, with possibly fatal results.

GENERAL

Buster Keaton: A Hard Act To Follow

The Discovery Channel 8.00pm

Ranking with the other two silent comedy giants Charlie Chaplin and Harold Lloyd, Keaton was clearly a genius. Unlike them he was unconcerned about financial security and personal safety. He was uncompromisingly sentimental, developing the famous "dead pan" expression that became his trademark. This series draws on rare archive film and unique interviews with Keaton, his third wife Eleanor and his close friends and associates to trace the life and career of the man who never regarded himself as anything more than a simple comedian.
Keaton's drinking had made him almost unemployable as an actor. But in 1936 he was back at MGM as a gag writer on a tenth of his old salary. His second big break came at last in 1949 with the famous Life magazine article that was to signal the great Keaton revival.

FILMS

Miami Blues.

The Movie Channel 10.05pm

Long-dormant Roger Corman protege George Armitage came out of directorial hibernation with this cracking, bloody adaptation of the first of Charles Willeford's cult Hoke Moseley crime novels.

In this Jonathan Demme-produced thriller, Fred Ward plays Moseley, a virtually itinerant Miami cop who lives in a shabby boarding house and has trouble with his alimony payments and his dentures.

He finds a case to take his mind off his personal problems when Junior Frenger (Alec Baldwin), a criminal sociopath with a messed-up idea of moral values, comes to town, moving in with college student-cum-prostitute Susie (Jennifer Jason Leigh), stealing Hoke's gun and badge and taking off on a crime spree around Miami. Colourful, seedy, blackly comic and often violent, this tale of three disparate characters all doing what they can to get by in modern-day Miami, is one of the finest, most orthodox thrillers of recent years.

SPORT
Monday Night Football - Live

Sky Sports 7.00pm

As Arsenal play hosts to Manchester City, viewers can see two of the contenders for England's number-one shirt, David Seaman and Tony Coton. City striker Niall Quinn, a former Highbury forward, also fancies himself as a goalkeeper - in fact he saved a penalty as an emergency stand-in last season - and might be willing to swap places, as he was once a promising striker. But don't expect that in this game. City will have enough problems keeping out last season's top marksman Ian Wright.

Monday continues overleaf...

The Hill

Bravo 9.30pm

A harsh and sadistic look at a British military prison in North Africa during the last war, with superb acting from the entire cast. The Hill is a huge man-made pile of sand and rock that military prisoners have to run over in full kit as part of a punishment designed to break a man's spirit. Sean Connery is in great form, taking a break from espionage activities between 'Goldfinger' and 'Thunderball', while Harry Andrews, Michael Redgrave and Ian Bannen all turn in sterling performances. Ian Hendry as Staff sergeant Williams is the definition of malevolance.

The personable romantic comedy that marked Gerard Depardieu's English-speaking debut.

The hulking Gallic star plays a french immigrant who, living and working illegally in New York, marries native Andie MacDowell. She needs a husband in order to take possession of a dream apartment but, once the cursory ceremony is over, the pair go their separate ways, neither one intending to see the other again until a government investigation into fraudulent marriages forces them back together. As the couple frantically attempt to get to know one another and create some semblance of a marital history, it soon becomes clear that, while the pair are as different as two people could possibly be, a trace of mutual love lurks beneath the initial friction.

The Open season closes

EACH OF the Grand Slam tournaments has its own angle.

The Australian Open launches the season, the French Open is the most glamorous affair and Wimbledon is the hardest to win for players brought up on hard-court surfaces.

But the US Open Championships – the final Grand Slam tournament of the year - is famed as the richest of the Open events. Last year money and glamour were forgotten, as 39-year-old Jimmy Connors confounded his age and his critics at Flushing Meadow.

After beating Aaron Krickstein in a marathon four-hour 41-minute fourth-round match, Connors was put on a saline drip and intravenous glucose.

Nevertheless Jimbo, recently ranked 987 in the world, recovered, and went on to defeat Pal Haarhuis and meet Jim Courier in the semi-final.

There the fairy tale ended.

While Connors progressed through the 14 days of the hard-court tournament, Sky Sports was perfectly placed to screen every moment of the intriguing events, stretching the schedules to stay with the action as Connors, on a comeback, captured the imagination on both sides of the Atlantic.

But after three late nights under floodlights, any hopes Connors had of a fifth US Open title were dashed in three straight sets.

▲ Steffi Graf

In the women's singles, Monica Seles won her third Grand Slam title of the season, defeating another veteran player, Martina Navratilova. But the 17-year-old world number one failed to make many friends on her return to the big time, after a mysterious absence forced a last minute withdrawal from the grass courts of Wimbledon.

In 1992, though, even with Steffi Graf fresh from Wimbledon victory, Seles should be favourite for the US Open title.

Sky Sports is represented in the USA by Sue Barker, the former British number one, and Gerry Williams, with the talented line-up of commentators and guests including David Lloyd, Roger Taylor, Andrew Castle, Bill Threlfall and Simon Reed. ■

ELECTRIC TRAIN SETS

ONLY £5 * +p&p

ENLARGED TO SHOW DETAIL

PLUS BONUS OFFER 50 PIECE FARM SET (SEE BELOW)

Not available from us at this price in any store. These electric trains will not be sold at this price or any price by the company in any store. There is a limit of two (2) sets per address at this price.

But if your request is mailed early enough (within 21 days) you may order up to 7 enough to build a "super-system" that will turn friends green with envy. Every set covered by the company's full one-year money-back guarantee. (This does not affect your statutory rights).

Axiom (Dept. 75-9), Harrington Dock, Liverpool X, L70 1AX.

We will "give-away" our best-selling set of battery operated electric trains - the nationally advertised GFX™ TRANSAMERICAN GOLDEN EAGLE FLYER™ for the astonishing price of only £5 each to all those who respond within 30 days.

These are the same GFX "GOLDEN EAGLE" electric train sets nationally advertised in leading media throughout America. They are the fastest-selling set of electric trains currenly being sold by a multi-million-dollar firm. Yet your price is just £5 for the complete set.

You control every operation with a flick of your finger

You can couple the cars or uncouple them, switch locomotive power on or off - all with easy finger action. Able to run continuously for hours on just one ordinary alkaline "AA" torch battery (not included) the entire set is so easy and safe to operate that it is manufacture-rated for children as young as age 3. (That is, if they can get it away from Daddy!)

Each set includes an independently battery powered turn-of-the-century locomotive - pulling a coal tender, boxcar and caboose. Also included are 8 sections of modular track and a dual position lever-switch that shunts the entire train from track-to-track and from curve to straight.

The total track area circumscribes an impressive 240square inches in area. But you can make it bigger —much bigger. That's because the track is modular, so you can put two or more sets together, creating huge "super-systems" with multiple trains running at the same time. Please allow 28 days delivery.
